HOMECOMING

Homecomers this year were treated to a host of unusual displays, a smiling cheerleader for a queen, and a victory over South Carolina that left them blue from the most exciting three minutes of football in many a season. Connor Dorm drew the biggest laugh with its Maidenform Bra, the Tri Delts teamed up with Charles Adams to take the sorority nod, and Phi Kappa Sigma's 30-foot-high figure chased a tree-top Gamecock.

In the spring of each year the campus harkens to a derby bugle call and descends on Kenan Stadium for an afternoon of fun. The event is the annual Sigma Chi Derby, sponsored by the local chapter of Sigma Chi fraternity. Contestants, made up of coed groups, compete in zany events—searching through a bog of mud for a can of beer, chasing chickens the length of the football field and throwing pies at an unfortunate Geek.

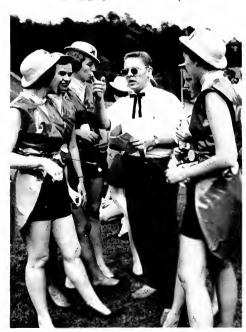

Highlighting the Derby is the Miss Modern Venus contest. Spectators are treated to a fleshy array of beauty as two dozen sweater-and-shorts clad coeds strut past the stands to wolf whistles and cat calls. Joan Brown was last year's queen, helping the Tri Delts to their second straight Derby victory.

The Derby is a national event, sponsored on campuses throughout the country by Sigma Chi chapters. It began in the early thirties, coming to Carolina in 1944. Local merchants support the Derby with more than a hundred prizes which are distributed to the free ticket holders.

Pep Rally

Football is distinguished from other college sports by the rah-rah spirit of the pre-game pep rally. The student hody is whipped together in the fall of the year by a band, a few torches and a handful of cheerleaders. They believe that their cheers can he a major factor in winning a game. They may be right.

The torchlight parade winds its way past Sonth Building to a Franklin Street location where wild eyed students will build a fire, crowd atop parked automobiles and fill the air with screams, songs and toilet paper.

An annual event is the pep rally preceding the State game, Station WPTF records the rally at Chapel Hill and on the State College campus at Raleigh, later broadcasts the joint commotion.

Carolina Politics

by Louis Kraar

Carolina campus politics—1954 vintage—was blended in Student Party and University Party meetings, fermented in campaigns, and tasted by more student voters than ever before.

Like domestic Rathskellar wine, 1954 campus politics were made of the same stuff as always—reliable issues, fiery oratory, and smiling candidates.

At times like spring elections, one found even the politicans tipsy from their own wares. The University Party ran smiling Tom Creasy for President and the Student Party decided to go Don Geiger.

Campaigning, at its most dizzy heights, went something like this:

SP leader Joel Fleishman booted the UP regime saying, "Students were beginning to wonder if the money they were paying into student government was really worth it."

UP spokesman Bob Farrell roared, "The Student Party with a two-thirds majority in the Legislature hasn't done anything but spend money. I'm tired of seeing these political nymphomaniacs running around campus."

Somehow the campus survived the invective. Some, myself included, enjoyed it. And Tom Creasy (UP) smiled his way to the presidency, Martin Jordan (UP) worked his way to the vice-presidency, and Don Fowler and Gerry Snider (SP) campaigned their way to treasurer and secretary respectively.

The Student Party made campus political history in winning an unprecedented three-fourths majority in the Legislature, and winced through the third election in a row that it lost the presidency.

The University Party recovered from its legislative downfall in the autumn race, mainly because of more dormitory representation.

David Reid of the Student Party pleaded for leniency in first-offense Honor System violations in the form of a student referendum. President Creasy frowned, said leniency would wreck the Honor System, and worked against the plan.

Reid's leniency plea failed by 629 votes in the fall election, but only after the campus had benefited from a vigorous discussion of systems and honor.

Faces, speeches, and campaigning by Jim Turner, Joel Fleishman, Manning Muntzing, and Lewis Brumfield highlighted the Student Party year. Reuben Leonard, Ed McCurry, Charlie Yarborough, and Max Crohn kept the University Party more active than ever.

Campus politics, 1954, were interesting, disgusting, inspiring, and humorous. This reporter watched and wrote, feeling all these ways at one time or another—but enjoying them all.

"Vote 8.P." urged Bob Young, leading the velling at the Student Party rally.

Stillness...

- for us: the meditative calm . . . first quietness of the day's initial start . . . lapse of sleep fulled into the time suspended before carolina's ode to morning . . .
- for us: whimsical reverie \ldots , dusktime with quiet exits from the theatre \ldots
- for us: the sunday tranquility along franklin street; the unyielding silence in the hallowed doors; the merciful quiet before 1:00....
- for us: the stillness found in woods; the great quiet at myrtle beach after the beer and when the last record has been turned off...
- for us: the solemnity of autumn; the 'walk-together' quiet: the pensive calm at the intimate bookshop; the embarrassed stillness following a pinned co-ed...
- for us: our moment of reflection when these days, these loves, become only our food for loneliness . . .

Joy...

for us: the nocturnal torch parade before the saturday football game; the raised voices; the tarbeel 'yell-song' and 'fight, fight, fight' . . .

for us; the sunday 'rendez-vous date,' the dancing in the dark; the "see you at the goody shop"; the jazz concerts; the "satchmo" germans when we find ourselves engulfed in a flood of rhythm . . .

for us: the 'won' candidates; the speech that made the difference...

for us: That first real kiss with meaning; the before-midnight hand-touch and "meet you at the 'y' for breakfast" . . .

for us: the re-entrance after christmas vacation, when we find again the mid-winter chapel hill; when we come, returned, entering once more into this spirit, this way of life . . .

for us: all this . . . for us . . .

"let a joy keep you with a terrible love joy always joy everywhere let joy kill you! keep away from the little deaths."

oneliness...

oh i remember: the long brown walks behind kenan stadium; at 6:00 p. m. the way the school buildings stand, terrible in their unfriendliness, splendid in their own material like loneliness . . .

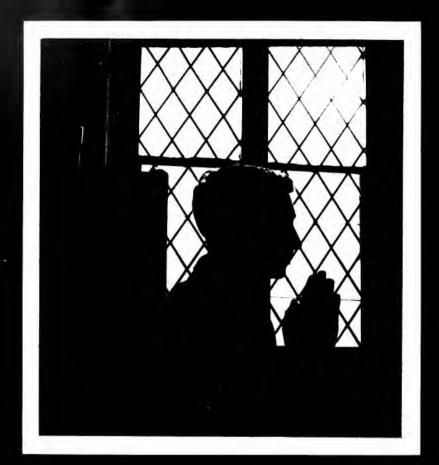

there is a hollow bleakness before the supper hour; there is the weekend crowd pianoed in the rathskeller with their mugs, their songs, and you, standing in the doorway, not joining in because you can't remember the words . . .

mother leaves and father leaves and the loved one back home turns traitor and you face an empty mail-call — tasting sudden cotton in your mouth . . .

there is the loneliness after graduation when the heart of chapel hill has broken into many pieces; and you're left, perhaps in summer school, trying to pick them up and put them back together again . . .

There is a wounded loncliness of memory when we find our friends here separated; when we understand the years to be a scare-thing, a mood, a frightened toy pestered and confused . . . mostly, there is a poignant loncliness in just-love; when we've pinned the girl or accepted the pin and then, suddenly, "goodnight" . . . perhaps "goodby" . . .

"for i walked on, silent remembering that i was alone that i had always been . . . "

what do we hope for . . . a dream, a song, a memorized word reechoing carolina . . .

we hope for autumn always . . . with its cool breath tossing leaf upon the shadowed arboretum paths . . . our shoes kicking aside the wastes of ground in the just-twilight time . . .

we hope for these tall brick buildings; these ivy-thatched edifices; these carved erections to remain giants of our past . . . lending us some fond memory for the future years . . .

we hope for the substance of things prayed for; the continuity of our years; the unforced faith; the quick coming of our dream . . .

we hope for the bell-tower tradition; the sandy walks; the tall grass... mostly, i suspect, we hope for usual things: for friends, for happiness, for achievement...

and as we grasp these things — these friends, this happiness, these achievements — may we look back, into the past, examining the aspects of carolina that rendered service; and planted within our own private gardens the cultivated buds of maturity . . .

goody-shop afternoons when the hours, undawned and unforecast, tell endlessly the blank tale: that this, this may have been in vain, that what we do, what we have done, might be the sacrifice that hurts, the touch that kills...

"Like one that on a lonesome road doth walk in fear and dread, and having once turned round, walks on, and turns no more his head; because he knows a frightful fiend doth close behind him tread."

have you ever walked slowly by yourself from graham memorial past the planetarium through the arboretum towards the women's dorms; and then out through meiver lawn, on past cobb and the monogram, out towards the road leading to raleigh . . .

have you ever walked any of these many-treed paths, with your head high and handsome, perhaps just a little bit proud . . .

have you ever sat in the pine room nickling the juke-box and heard anything that put a song in your heart . . . or a bit of frost . . .

have you sat in the just-dusk on the library steps with a book in one hand and a cigarette in the other and spent a couple of moments looking towards south building — seeing the faint life of lights wink through the dark distance until they, and all the rest of the world, are asleep...

Companionship...

it's not the military routine and maybe, if he's a big man, or she's a little girl, you have to learn how to walk, all over again . . .

but still, it's nice to walk together . . .

and it's nice to eat in one of the booths at the porthole, one of those three-chaired affairs, when two people sit side-by-side and a third occupies an end of the table . . .

and it's nice to walk into the rathskeller cave, big-eyeing the mugtwosomes, and seeing in the candlelight-darkness the held-hand, the just-kissed cheek . . .

"oh for a lock of hair, a kiss, a smile, as if to say; in my dreams i've traveled many times but I've come home to stay."

-ulfillment...

at last: the opened door, the swinging white gate, the grass on the other side \dots at last: the graduating whites, the diplomed-gentlemen who preside at this special ecremony \dots at last: that mature pain, that unreal laugh . . .

yet; here it is, what we have worked for, looking back over our lives we count twelve years in school, four in college, all that time measured by finals, professors, friends, a thousand things...

so, let's pack our bags and head the other way . . .

say: "goodhy chapel hill; i won't forget you in a hurry but i haven't time for you now; i graduated; that puts you out of the running"....

and say "so-long" to the intimate and kenan and your dormitory, your house, the person you respected most and the one you didn't at all, and toss dozens of faces from your life because it hurts to remember; but! I'm sorry, it's just not as easy as that...

a long time ago in our early life we set a pattern of what we'd do and how we'd go about it . . .

well we followed that plan, if we've come this far . . .

and this is the culmination of the years . . .

it's also the culmination of our emotions . . . here at carolina we've found time enough for our hope, our stillness, our anxiety, our loneliness, our meditation, our joy, our companionship, and now, our fulfillment . . .

only . . . what has been fulfilled?

i suspect our own heart has; and our mind . . .

i guess a lot of things... mostly, we're on our own, we've got something to prove, there's a lot further to go from here...

but . . . we've come a long way, too . . . our cup has been full . . .

Student Government, one of the great prides of Carolina, has not always existed at Carolina. Historically, it was first founded on our campus in the Halls of the Di and Phi Societies. Largely due to the efforts of an energetic student body and with the help of a cooperative faculty, our student government took the form of our national and state governments with their separate legislative, executive, and judicial branches.

The aim of our student government has been to attempt to solve some of the problems confronting the students in the course of their college careers. Its chief functions have been to establish an efficient orientation program of new students, to make students more conscious of all phases of their government, to account for the expenditure of student fees, and to try reported violations of the Honor System. In order to make for a more meaningful student government, nearly all the phases of student life are controlled by the students themselves.

Through President Creasy's guidance and with the cooperation of all those associated with the mechanics of student government, the year's problems have been ably dealt with. On the agenda for this year were plans for a faculty evaluation, a student insurance plan, an improved U. N. C. Band, a coalition cabinet, and a Library Student Advisory Board.

And so the 1954-1955 student administration's achievements have become another step insuring the constant and progressive growth of Carolina student government.

Student Legislature

For what purpose do you rise?

1 hereby . .

LEWIS BRUMFIELD Sergeant-at-Arms

MANNING MUNTZING Speaker Protem

The Student Legislature, founded in 1938, continues to function as the supreme legislative branch of student government. Nearly all rules and regulations governing students of the university are passed by this representative group. All student fees are controlled by the Student Legislature and are budgeted to the various campus organizations each year. The control of hundreds of campus activities is vested in fifty legislators elected by the students from the ten campus districts.

The Legislature is presided over by the Vice-President of the Student Body who acts as Speaker. Various standing committees appointed from the legislative membership do the preliminary work of the Legislature.

Officers for this year were: Martin Jordan, Speaker; Manning Muntzing, Speaker Protem; Joel Fleishman, Parliamentarian; Caroline Davis, Clerk; and Lewis Brumfield, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Women's Honor Council

The Women's Honor Council is the highest women's judiciary body. The Council has original jurisdiction in all cases involving violations of the Honor and Campus Codes; it also acts as an appellate court to House Council decisions.

The Women's Council is designed to insure the fairest trial possible. Its authority is parallel to that of the Men's Council and is likewise subordinate to the Student Council. The Council is composed of three juniors, five seniors, one graduate student, and one woman elected at large.

At the beginning of the academic year, the Council leads in the orientation of women students to the Honor System, which is the very essence of our student life.

Our Honor System is the insurance for maintaining a democratic atmosphere of mutual trust and understanding between the students and the faculty throughout the year. It has for its ultimate goal the personal growth and development of all students.

The Women's Council functions as an indispensible part of the University's philosophy itself—"To do justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly with Thy God."

Women's Residence Council

Almost every Tuesday afternoon at five o'clock, a group of women students meets in the Council Room of Graham Memorial to discuss problems particularly concerning co-eds here on campus. The Council is comprised of one elected representative from each of the women's dormitories in addition to each dorm president. Other members of the council include the house managers of each sorority, two representatives from the nursing school, and the house council coordinator from the Women's Honor Council.

Aside from being faced with such problems as having to decide upon the feasibility of extending co-ed hours for certain special events or the setting of dates for dormitory fire drills, the council chooses the editor of the Women's Handbook and selects the chairman of orientation for women students. Furthermore, the Residence Council establishes all dormitory and social rules, and consistently works in cooperation with the Office of the Dean of Women, the administration of the University, and the Women's Honor Council in the execution of these rules.

Men's Honor Council

The Men's Council, as the primary judicial body for campus law at Carolina, has original jurisdiction in all instances of violations of the Honor Code and of the Campus Code, Since certain violations by their nature are not in a codified form, the Men's Council has the responsibility of defining the application and extent of campus law by hearing cases of alleged departure from the precepts of the Honor and Campus Codes.

Under the Student Government Constitution, the Council has the authority in instances of violations of campus law to render decisions which include reprimand, placing on probation, and suspension from school. In the fine tradition of granting to student supervision the responsibility for student conduct, the administration almost invariably supports the decisions rendered by the Council.

The foundations of the Honor System at Carolina were laid in 1875 by President Kemp P. Battle, at which time authority for punishing violators of the Honor Code was vested in the Di and Phi Societies. After compulsory membership in the Societies was abolished, a special student council to handle violations was established. There were a number of further changes in the structure of student honor councils, until in 1946, the Student Constitution was adopted which established our present court system. Today the functions of the Men's and Women's Councils are parallel and both are subordinate to the Supreme Court of the system, the Student Council.

Along with the duty of upholding the principles of the Honor and Campus Codes, the Men's Council has the responsibility of helping to orient new students into our system, and of maintaining an awareness in the students of their obligations to the Honor System.

The Men's Council is composed of three seniors, two juniors, two sophomores, one freshman, one pharmacy student, and one graduate student.

Men's Interdormitory Council

The Interdormitory Council, representing some 3,000 students of the University's nineteen dormitories, exists to promote and maintain an efficient system of dormitory government and to foster a wholesome program of social activities. Within the organization is a judicial court which handles all cases of violations of dormitory regulations.

The activities of the Council are many, including dorm open houses, faculty-student discussions, individual dorm and campus-wide social programs, and participation and cooperation in almost all campus projects and activities.

Graham Memorial

JIM WALLACE

Sponsoring a campus-wide program of activities was Graham Memorial — the Student Union, the center of campus extra-curricular life, the place of relaxation, entertainment, and hospitality for members of the Student Body.

Because of a substantial increase in its funds, Graham Memorial was able to expand its operations considerably. The Activities Board sponsored Aldous Huxley and presented concerts by Woody Herman and Sauter-Finegan; the Rendezvous Room vibrated periodically to the pulse of a combo's modern sounds. Both the Woodhouse Conference and the Grail Rooms were made available for meetings. Then too, G. M. was successful in revitalizing student interest in their Student Union thanks to the opening of the new pool room. Furthermore, Graham Memorial took a big step in underwriting the Chapel Hill Concert Series. This venture was instrumental in bringing to the University Jan Peerce, Walter Geseking, the Salzburg Marionette Theatre, and the American Chamber Orchestra.

Largely because of G. M.'s progress and growing importance on campus, its budget will likely top $40,000 next year.

STUDENT ENTERTAINMENT COMMITTEE

Under the efficient direction of John Page, the Student Entertainment Committee blossomed forth into one of its best years in its long and fruitful history. The seats in Memorial Hall remained as hard as ever but nevertheless did not discourage the sitters as they witnessed performances by some of the world's most renowned artists. Alec Templeton, the First Piano Quartet, Rise Stevens, and the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra all played to packed and enthusiastic houses.

GRAHAM MEMORIAL ACTIVITIES BOARD

With nine committees at its disposal, the Graham Memorial Activities Board established itself as the principal programming agency on campus by surging forward in providing a host of parties, receptions, talent shows, contests, and concerts. Particularly successful were the Petites Musicales, name band concerts, movie series, bridge club, and the bridge and dance instructions.

Self help students keep the huilding operating more than sixteen hours a day.

THE STAFF

Indispensable in the increasingly complex organization is the Graham Memorial Student Staff. Members of the staff watch over the pool room, give out information in the office, play records on the high-fidelity system, manufacture signs, do mimeographing, and clean up the "mess" in the Coffee Room. The Travel Agency arranges trips for students to all parts of the world. You will remember the faces of the staff members for a long time, for they helped you when you needed it.

The Student Council might well be compared with a State or Federal Supreme Court in that it is the top link in a judicial chain. As provided for in the Student Constitution, the Student Council has original jurisdiction in all cases involving the constitutionality of any legislative or executive actions. It also has original jurisdiction in all cases of violations of acts not otherwise provided for by the Student Legislature. The Student Council also has the power of review in all cases decided by the lower courts, with such review to be limited exclusively to the question of whether, in the original judicial hearing, all the constitutional rights of the accused were observed.

The Student Council is composed of nine members: three members elected by and from the men students at fall elections; three members elected by and from the women students, two members elected at large by and from the student body and one graduate student elected at large by the student body in spring elections. All members must be at least juniors; the chairman is elected by the Council proper.

Publications Board

The Publications Board is the publisher of the Daily Tar Heel, Yackety Yack, and the Carolina Quarterly for the students of the University. The Board operates with a budget of approximately eighty-five thousand dollars, most of which is appropriated from Student Funds by the Student Legislature. The Board is charged with complete financial responsibility for the publications under its control. Two faculty advisors, the editors-in-chief of each publication, and two members of Legislature make up the Board. The Executive Secretary heads an administrative staff.

The Carolina Quarterly became a new addition to the Board this year as a result of legislative action last spring; its incorporation into the Board structure has required much time and effort.

CONSOLIDATED UNIVERSITY STUDENT COUNCIL

The Consolidated University Student Council is an organization whose chief functions are to meet and discuss problems common to its members' respective schools—Woman's College, State College, and Carolina, and to promote good will and understanding among the three institutions. The three schools each send eleven student leaders to each of four meetings held during the year. The executive committee of the Council meets with President Gray following these meetings.

Each C.U.S.C. delegation plans and manages a "Day" at its school for the other two student bodies. At Carolina, C.U. Day is held in conjunction with the State College football game; at N. C. State, the event usually corresponds with the State-Carolina basketball game, and at W. C., C.U. Day is planned along with their spring program.

Carolina Forum

It has been a universally accepted fact that, in order for a university to grow intellectually, opinions from without the academic community must be brought into the open form of ideas in which students and faculty members barter their philosophies and from which emerges the foundations for the students' beliefs.

JOEL FLEISHMAN Chairman

Since its inception and with the idea of furthering this principle, the Forum has brought to Carolina a group of the most distinguished persons in the world. This year, plans have been arranged to present, among others: former President Harry S. Truman, Associate Justice William O. Douglas, Senators Hubert Humphrey, Lister Hill, and Estes Kefauver, Socialist leader Norman Thomas, Governor Robert Meyner of New Jersey, Governor G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, Mr. Henry Ford, II, former Governor of Connecticut Chester Bowles, Army Chief-of-Staff Matthew Ridgway, and Chief of Naval Operations Admiral Robert Carney.

The Forum deeply believes that, in providing for the fruition of the proposed program for 1954-1955, it will approach this year's fulfillment of its perpetual ideal—to bring to the campus of the oldest state university in the nation the political, educational, and economic leaders of the world.

Debate Council

The Debate Council is an outgrowth of the two debating societies at Carolina, the Dialectic Senate and the Philanthropic Assembly. The Council, which determines the policy of and governs the debate squad, is composed of one member from each of the debating societies, two faculty advisors, and other students selected by the forensic squad.

Present activities of the Council include representing Carolina in intercollegiate debates and other forensic matches, including the second annual Atlantic Coast Conference Debate Tournament.

The Debate Council meets competition from most of the major colleges in the East. Typical contests would include debating, orations, and extemporaneous and after-dinner speaking.

Officers of the Debate Council for the year were: Beverly Webb, President; Anne Huffman, Executive Secretary; Dr. N. W. Mattis and Dr. D. G. Monroe served as faculty advisors.

But the good, gray Times couldn't be as big in the minds of its reporters as The Dally Tar Heel is to those who give it their best hours and ideas.

The sophomore in the corner, re-working his lead, was up until four this morning with a late story. You'll notice him around, at South Building, the Legislature meetings, the parades on Franklin Street, He likes to ask questions, respects the truth, writes quietly and well. He knows more about the University than most graduates.

You'll have to pardon his pride in his paper. It's the same pride E. W. Myers had in 1895 and Tom Wolfe had in 1920 and a thousand students have had after them. Years ago, in the masthead, it said, "Oldest College Daily in the South," and that's still true; but this newspaper can claim a higher substitle, freest college daily in the country, with a great, liberal past and present. "The strongest force for progress on the campus," one teacher called it. "The most intelligent, responsible paper in the state, in many ways," a state newspaper's editorial writer remarked.

The sophomore would laugh if you suggested it, but he epitomizes Chapel Hill. For what is a university but an inquiring mind, a searcher for facts, a believer in knowledge?

There will always be a place for him here, always a place for his newspaper. The names will change; the Kuralts and Pewledges; Yoders and Kraars; Shores and Babsons; Goodmans and Recces; O'Sullivans and Basses of this year will offer up their writing and their layouts and be gone. But there will always be the editor searching his beliefs, the managing editor who works through supper, the sophomore taking notes in the Legislature meeting.

As long as the University itself is free, there will remain the seven-column streamer, the bold-face box, the truth in eight-point type.

In Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary, the word "humor" is defined thusly: Hmmmm . . . well, I guess that leaves us out. No kidding though, Tarnation is Carolina's unofficial humor magazine. By unofficial we mean, Student Legislature doesn't give us money, Graham Memorial doesn't give us money, students don't subscribe, and we doubt that Mr. John Motley Morehead will ever erect a monument in our honor, but we do exist.

Our motto for the past year was "Risque but not raunchy" and that was exactly what we tried to be. We advocated Free Love, Bars on Every Corner, Mixed Dormitories, Burlesque in Memorial Hall, and Unlimited Cuts, but we weren't sincere; we don't really believe in unlimited cuts.

We finally managed to publish four whole issues and for once lived up to our promises.

One of the most vital functions of student government here at Carolina is the rigorous and efficient indoctrination of new students to our "Carolina Way of Life."

The Orientation Committee, headed by Rollie Tillman and Luanne Thornton, planned and supervised the activities of new students during Orientation Week for both the summer sessions and September of 1954. The chairman and their committees met during April and May to map out their programs to be carried out by the 175 Orientation Counselors, all of whom came back early for the week of introducing the new students to Carolina.

The University Party, having functioned for the past twenty-nine years, is the oldest of the campus political groups. The party was started by a group of about fifteen students interested in Student Government. For the first three or four years its meetings were held in dormitory rooms and the basements of fraternity houses. By the early thirties the University Party had become a campus wide organization, and it remained unopposed until 1946 as the only major student political party on the campus. the form of Student Government that we have today has evolved. For the party, then as now, has worked for a more democratic, self-governing student body.

The party, since its beginning in the 1920's, has followed the philosophy of group representation by one member of each group. For it is our conviction that a more efficient organ for administering the function of political parties in student government can be gained through this group organization.

This past year has been a successful one, and much of the credit for this success goes to our chairman of last year, Jack Stevens.

Today the University Party is composed of Chairman Rueben Leonard; Vice-Chairman Claude Pope; Secretary Jackie Steed, Treasurer Jim Exum and members representing groups of at least twenty-five students. It is the work of the members to select candidates and to determine policies for the party.

Young Democrat Club

The Young Democrat Club of the University of North Carolina, as all other YDC Clubs throughout the state and nation, is a service organization of the Democratic Party. Membership is open to all members of the University student body and staff who are in accord with the Democratic program and principles; and by joining the campus YDC, one at the same time becomes a member of the state and national YDC. The purposes of the YDC are to stimulate an interest in young people in the affairs of politics and government, to give them an opportunity to become acquainted with the operation and leadership of the state and national Democratic Party, and to afford young people a means of participation in the activities of the Democratic Party.

The University YDC was first formed in 1939 and was reactivated in the fall of 1952. Since then it has grown to nearly one thousand members, has played an important part in the past two state conventions, and offered students that opportunity to participate in the affairs of government and politics. The University YDC has joined with college YDC's in this state to conduct an annual YDC Inter-Collegiate Dance; it has held rallies on this and other campuses, and has been instrumental in the formation and strengthening of YDC Clubs at Woman's College, Greensboro College, North Carolina State and Meredith. From our club emanates the plan of a State Democratic Workshop organization, and the future encompasses plans of a continuing strong and growing organization for the furtherance of Democratic ideals and principles.

FRESHMAN FELLOWSHIP

This year's Freshman Fellowship had its beginning from a group of Freshman Campers. It was decided that the spirit should continue as an organized association that would promote interest in subjects of concern to the Freshman class. Topics of student government, debating societies, and fraternities were presented and discussed at supper meetings.

A dance at Averett College in Danville, Virginia, was one of the more exciting activities of the Fellowship.

Hillel is a national organization devoted to religious and cultural work among Jewish students in American Universities as well as those in Canada, Cuba, England and Israel. In all, there are 220 chapters of Hillel sponsored by B'nai B'rith, the largest Jewish Service organization in the United States.

Through its sixtold program of regular religious services, Hillel courses and other cultural media, impressive social functions, interfaith activities, participation in civic and communal projects, and pastoral work, the Hillel movement has brought to Jewish students a sense of the relevance and vitality of Judaism's heritage.

The Foundation is now in its eighteenth year of representation and service to this campus. The aim of the Hillel movement remains consistent with the life and ideals of the Rabbi of the first century whose name graces the movement, and who is best remembered for profound learning, magnificent forbearance, and passionate devotion to his faith and to his people.

The Young Women's Christian Association at the University of North Carolina, a part of the national and world YWCA, purports: To unite in a desire to realize a full and creative life through God; To determine to have a part in making this life possible for all people; To seek to know God; To understand Jesus and follow Him. The Membership Council is the link between the organization and every coed on the campus and functions as a separate unit responsible to the Cabinet.

This year the two main events were: the Centennial celebration of the founding of the YWCA and the National Student Assembly of the YWCA's and YMCA's held during the Christmas holidays in Kansas. As our part of the Centennial celebration we attempted strengthening the program and membership and raised money for our birthday gift to the National Organization. The preparation for and attendance at the National Assembly enabled us to look into the future of the organization and more closely integrate our work with its ideals and purpose.

The year starts at different times for different people. For some old fogies it begins on January 1st; for the more collegiate it begins in September with the opening of school; but for the BSU'ers it began this year with a pre-school retreat at Holden Beach. It seems that plenty of plans came out of this retreat, too. The supper forum series, based on the theme of worship, were considered among the best meetings held by some of the students. Sunday mornings saw revitalized and thriving classes, presided over by some of the leading teachers on campus. The parties and socials were results of good planning and management. Daily meditations led by students in Gerard Hall added a spiritual uplift during the week for many of us. The inspiration and guidance of our pastor, Dr. Samuel T. Habel, aided our work greatly and, of course, there was always the wisdom and understanding of J. O. Cansler, our student chaplain. So, with a succession of meaningful activities, the year moved on.

Newman Club

The National Newman Club Federation is a confederation of Catholic Clubs on secular college and university campuses. Founded in 1913, it now encompasses over 400 clubs with a membership of 175,000.

Here at Carolina we have had a wonderful year under the guidance of Father John Weidinger, our chaplain. We have had weiner roasts, movies, talks on foreign travel and our usual Christmas party for the orphans.

Cosmopolitan Club

The Cosmopolitan Club tries to provide "a home away from home" where students from other countries may meet each other and meet American students. It believes that by meeting and knowing each other, we can break down many of our prejudices which lead to world misunderstandings, and thereby promote the cause of world understanding.

Composed of approximately fifty members who are selected through tryouts, the Women's Glee Club began a successful season by performing the brilliant Festival Finale with the Men's Glee Club for the October 12th University Day celebration on the steps of South Building. This singing organization, under the leadership of Dr. Joel Carter, made successful trips during the year to Fort Bragg, to N. C. State College, and to Camp Butner. Just before the holidays the Women's Glee Club once again combined with the Men's Club for the gala Annual Christmas Concert. For the latter part of the program they were joined by the Chapel Hill Choral Club and accompanied by the University Symphony Orchestra in a performance of the Christmas portions of Handel's Messiah.

Highlights of the Spring Semester were the Formal Spring Concert at Hill Hall and the picnic with fried chicken and French fries; both of these events were shared with the Men's Glee Club, as was the Christmas party in the Pine Room.

The Men's Glee Club opened the season by combining with the Women's Glee Club and singing the brilliant Festival Finale in the Founder's Day ceremonies. Then the club traveled to the University of Virginia and sang a joint concert with their glee club on Friday night preceding the annual football game between the two universities.

They joined with the Chapel Hill Choral Society and the Women's Glee Club for the presentation of the annual Festival of Christmas Music.

In addition to joint concerts with several of the surrounding girls' schools, the club made plans for an extended tour throughout the South.

"The Crucible"

In 1918, Frederick H. "Proff" Koch joined the University English department and introduced his now-famous English 31, a course for beginning playwrights. This initiation of "Proff" Koch's efforts toward a new and vital folk drama brought as a result not only such successful American playwrights as Paul Green and Josephina Niggli, but the Carolina Playmakers, today a famed University theatre.

The Carolina Playmakers are a very real Community Theatre. Any student, member of the faculty, or resident of the area may become a member simply by taking an active part in any one of the many phases of production of a Playmakers play.

The Playmakers work now falls into two categories. First there is a program of major productions, which in 1954-55 included "The Crucible," "Arsenic and Old Lace" (which toured the state), "Show Boat," and "Julius Caesar." Second, there are experimental productions written, staged, and acted by students. Two full-length plays, by new playwrights, are presented as major productions. A third category might be added, for the Playmakers are responsible for bringing to Chapel Hill such shows as "Three For Tonight" with Marge and Gower Champion, and "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" with Paul Douglas, Wendell Corey and Steve Brodie.

The Press Club was organized four years ago to establish and maintain a fellowship among students planning journalistic careers.

The club holds social events and programs in which members and guest speakers participate. Projects, such as writing contests for the promotion of campus publications and journalism as a profession, are conducted throughout the year.

University Dance Committee

The University Dance Committee has as its fore-most objectives the role of Fost at Carolina dances and the task of maintaing order at social functions sponsored by campus organizations. This group of students, familiar by their formal dress with blue and white rosettes in their lapels and by their careful vigilance of campus dances, is striving toward making Carolina dances the functions that both students and faculty desire.

During the 1954-1955 season the Committee has effectively performed its duty. Headed this year by Thomas H. Kepley, President, the group has had a most successful year, both in helping to put on Carolina dances and in guiding them toward perfection.

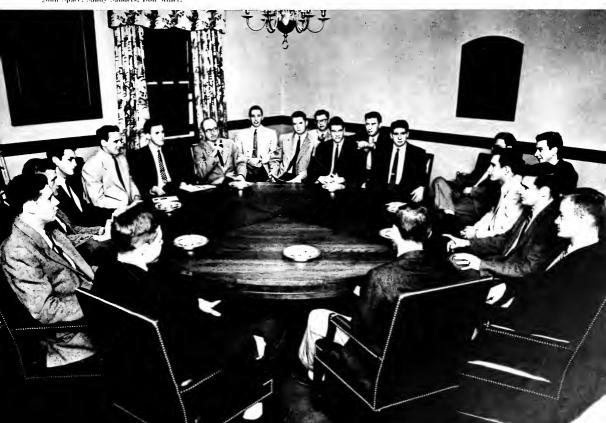

Among this year's planned activities were:

- a. Establishment of a more effective court system.
- Establishment of a Constitution of the University Dance Committee.
- c. Revision of all rules.
- d. Issuing of a booklet entitled "So You Are Coming to a Carolina Dance."
- e. Establishment of bands and combo office.

dialectic senate

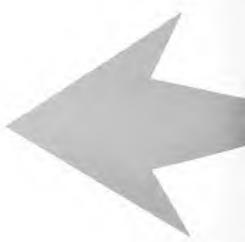

"It is significant that the first student organization to be established after the founding of the University was a debating society, The Dialectic Senate."

So spoke Jonathan Daniels at the Fall Inaugural ceremonies of the Senate of the Dialectic Literary Society in October, 1954, just one hundred and sixty years after the Senate was chartered. Since its inception on June 3, 1795, the Dialectic Society has been dedicated primarily to providing a forum for the free exchange of ideas and the exercise of Man's Freedom of Thought. The Di, as it is popularly and affectionately called, fulfills its tradition by having weekly meetings at which time Senators and guests debate issues of current importance, governed only by the regulations of parliamentary procedure. In this way, students can speak their mind and can develop poise and power in public address which will help them throughout life.

If there be one organization on campus from which all other student groups have sprung, it is the Di Senate, in which student government, the honor system, and the campus traditions of free speech and liberalism had their origins.

LEWIS BRUMFIELI Speaker

A Tuesday night at the Phi Hall in New East is likely to find most anything going on. You might find a motion on the floor to censure a member who brought his girl up to see the Hall at 1:00 on Sunday morning. Or you might hear an eloquent discourse on the merits of Hamilton or Jefferson, or Eisenhower or Stevenson, as the case may be. You might see the Speaker pounding his gavel, begging for peace and quiet. You might hear a historian's report on Nero's mother, or the various versions of the rebel yell. The Phi is widely noted for its lack of decorum and its very literal interpretation of the right of free speech.

But you will always see students expressing themselves on any topic that interests them. You will always see them giving and taking information and enjoying themselves in the process.

Ever since 1796 the students here at Carolina have found in the Phi a medium of expression. Students who were later governors, senators, congressmen, and ambassadors used this medium and found it to be very valuable. It certainly did not hurt them to express an honest difference of opinion.

National Student Association

CHAL SCHLEY

If there is any one organization which can speak in the name of the college students of America, NSA is it. NSA is not a completely representative organization, nor does it claim to be so; however, a majority of the accredited colleges in this country send delegates to the annual Student Congress, and the policies formed there represent the will of the majority.

In the past, the University of North Carolina has figured prominently in the affairs of NSA. Two Carolina men, Al Lowenstein and Dick Murphy, served as National Presidents of the Association. This year, Joel Fleishman has served as Chairman of the Virginia-Carolinas Region with Norwood Bryan as Regional Secretary. Louis Kraar, Associate Editor of The Daily Tar Heel, was elected to serve as the southeastern representative for the National Association for a Free College Press, a newly-formed organization designed to prevent undue censorship of college newspapers.

The campus unit of NSA is designed to aid already existing organizations in carrying out their programs. It fullfills this function by supplying information gathered from other campuses across the nation where similar programs have been carried out in the past. The campus unit also dispenses similar information to other colleges. Probably its most important function, however, is to see that Carolina is well represented each summer at the annual Congress.

The North Carolina Student Legislative Assembly was founded in 1936 by the Pi Kappa Delta Forensic Fraternity at State College. The original group was convened as an oratorical society, but through the years has evolved into a legislative assembly modeled after the State Legislature of North Carolina.

This year the eighteenth assembly met at the state capitol in Raleigh, with twenty-three North Carolina colleges represented. Speaker Joel Fleishman of UNC called the House of Representatives to order, while in the Senate, Wade Cooper of East Carolina College presided. The heavy slate of legislation included the topic of academic freedom, a proposal for de-segregation in North Carolin's schools, and the idea of abolishing capital punishment.

The representatives from Carolina established themselves as leaders in both houses. Political maneuverings, parliamentary wrangles, and persuasive arguments were deftly handled by the delegates from UNC. On the non-academic side, Carolina again stood in the limelight insofar as their parties in the Sir Walter Hotel were concerned.

The State Student Legislature not only provides opportunities for debate on many current topics of the day, but also serves as a training ground for future lawmakers of the state and of the nation.

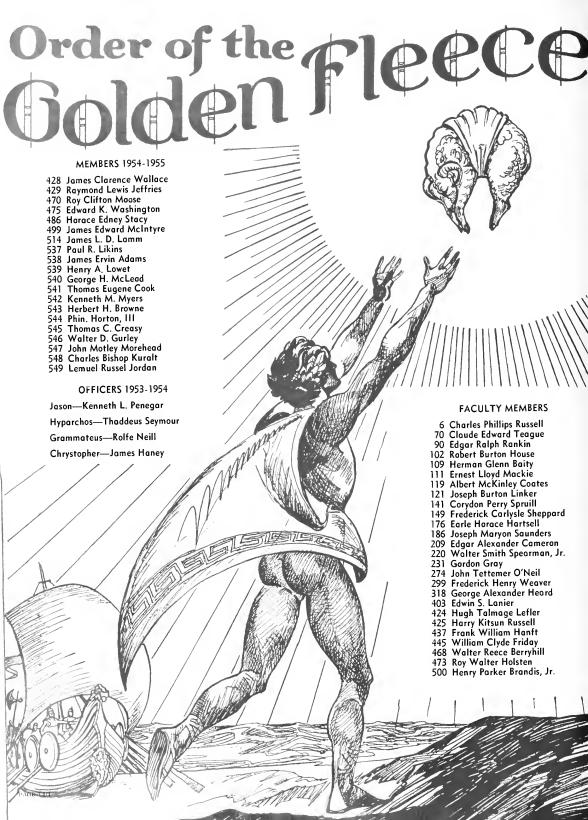

In the past eighteen years this unique assembly has received much acclaim from the press, from legislators, and from professors. Its prestige and progress should continue to grow and flourish in the years to come.

Alpha Epsilon Delta is a national honor society for pre-medical students. Founded at the University of Alabama, April 28, 1926, there are about 7,300 members in 47 active chapters at schools throughout the United States. North Carolina Beta Chapter was founded at the University of North Carolina on March 25, 1936.

The object of the Society is to encourage excellence in premedical scholarship, to stimulate an appreciation of the importance of premedical education in the study of medicine, to promote cooperation and contacts between medical and premedical students and educators in developing an adequate program of premedical education, and to bind together similarly interested students.

Service is a bridge from man to man, and when a group of men band together for that purpose, the rewards are magnified many times. The men of Alpha Phi Omega develop leadership abilities through service projects on 276 campuses. The brothers of Rho Chapter strive to carry out their program including a Guide Service, aiding handicapped students, sponsoring Parents' Day, ushering, and running the APO Book Exchange.

The Advisory Board is composed of outstanding members of the Administration and Faculty, further strengthening the bond of cooperation between Alpha Phi Omega and the University. To have once been a Scout, and to have an earnest desire to render service to others are the keys to becoming a Brother in APO and quietly doing something to make Chapel Hill a nicer place to come to school.

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia was founded at the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, Massachusetts, in 1898. Its aims are to advocate the cause of music in America, to foster the mutual welfare and brotherhood of students of music, to develop the truest fraternal spirit among its members, and to encourage loyalty to the Alma Mater.

Alpha Rho Chapter, founded at the University of North Carolina in 1926, takes an active part in the furtherance of musical activities at the University. Each year the chapter presents its American Music Program, a concert devoted to the performance of works by American composers and frequently including compositions by members of the fraternity. Whenever possible, Phi Mu Alpha brings to the campus well-known guest artists.

Keeping in mind the advancement of the best in music, Phi Mu Alpha attempts to develop a strong fraternal feeling among the promoters of that art.

Phi Alpha Delta is a national secret Greek letter law fraternity founded in 1889 at the University of Chicago Law School. Ruffin Chapter of the University of North Carolina was established in April, 1921. The purpose of the fraternity is to improve professional standards through association of students with the bar and to provide a practical supplement to legal education.

Each year the Chapter conducts a mock trial, presided over by a member of the State bench, to allow students to put brief making and trial procedure into practical application. Regular business meetings are held every week in addition to frequent banquets at which eminent speakers from the bench and bar are presented. A textbook lending library is sponsored by the Chapter and its books are available to all students in Law School.

The combined social-professional program is carried out with the intentions of forming a strong bond between members of the classes in Law School; the forming of a relationship between members of the Law School and former students; and cultivation of principles of legal justice through bonds of friendship.

Phi Delta Chi is a professional pharmaceutical fraternity, founded to advance the science of pharmacy and its allied interests, and to foster and promote a fraternal spirit among its members.

Alpha Gamma Chapter was established at the University of North Carolina on May 30, 1922. Phi Delta Chi has been an active organization in the School of Pharmacy, justly proud of the obligations and high ideals of an old and honored profession.

Fall has come and now has passed, but the semester system is here to stay. Despite confusion and hardship, the brothers have become indoctrinated and settled down to the serious job of survival. Homecoming weekend found many old grads enjoying the annual alumni luncheon. A brief pause for Christmas and we were back at work again, looking forward to a wonderful P. D. C. weekend. Warm weather and State Board Exams again, so good lack to all!

The International Legal Fraternity of Phi Delta Phi, founded at the University of Michigan in 1869, was the first professional fraternity organized in the United States. Its purposes and ideals were amply expressed by the founders in the preamble to the organization's constitution: "We the undersigned students of the Law Department of the University of Michigan, in order to promote a higher standard of professional ethics and culture in this and other law schools and in the profession at large, and desiring to unite ourselves in the endearing bonds of affection and brotherly love for the purpose of encompassing these ends, do associate ourselves into a Fraternity to be known as Phi Delta Phi (1869)."

That Phi Delta Phi has maintained and carried forward these ideals is evidenced by the fact that it now numbers 71 active chapters and over 40 thousand members. Vance Inn, the chapter located at the University of North Carolina, was founded in 1919. Many of its initiates have gone forth from the School of Law to become recognized leaders of the bench and bar in North Carolina.

Alpha Kappa Psi — founded October 5, 1904, at New York University, New York City — is the first and oldest commerce fraternity in the United States. Chapters have since been established only in schools highly accredited in the fields of commerce. Alpha Tau was first installed at Carolina February 18, 1925, and after being dormant since 1933, was reactivated on November 7, 1948. For three years Alpha Tau has been one of the ten highest ranked chapters in the country.

We have made it our task to further the individual welfare of each member by the association of our mutual helpfulness and common interest in the fields of business administration. In order to accomplish this, we meet not only to acquaint ourselves in social activities but also to achieve a more implicit and exact perception of our future. This attainment will not be a personal accomplishment, but one which will foster scientific research in the field of business, one which will educate the public to appreciate and demand a more compelling and a more honest business world, one which will promote all students seeking to obtain degrees in business administration. With these purposes and ideals in mind, we shall continue to direct all of our actions in the advancement of a better and more cooperative world of business.

Delta Sigma Pi is an international fraternity in the field of business administration. The fraternity was founded at New York University on November 7, 1907, and has grown to be the largest professional fraternity in business administration with more than 80 active chapters.

The purpose of Delta Sigma Pi is to foster the study of business in universities; to encourage scholarship, social activity and the association of students for their mutual advancement by research and practice; to promote closer affiliation between the commercial world and the students of commercia and to further a higher standard of commercial ethics and culture and the civic and commercial welfare of the community.

Alpha Lambda was established at Carolina, May 9, 1925. It aids its members and other students of business administration with a varied professional and social program. The sponsoring of talks by able and experienced businessmen, the presentation of exhibits in conjunction with the school of business, and the planning of trips to leading industries throughout the southeast are only a few of the ways it supplements classroom theory by bringing students closer to actual business problems.

Panhellenic Council

The purpose of the Panhellenic Council is to coordinate sorority affairs and to air any problems that can't or shouldn't be solved within the individual sorority. Panhellenic formulates the rules which govern rushing and supervises the general rush program. Our main object is to foster friendly relations between the six sororities and to encourage co-operation instead of competition.

There are six sororities at Carolina and Panhellenic is made up of three girls from each group plus their alumna adviser, a member of the Stray Greeks, and an adviser from the office of the Dean of Women.

One of the means of bringing sororities together is projects. This spring Panhellenic will sponsor another workshop in which all the sororities will participate. In this workshop ideas are shared on how to improve the sorority program, and it is also a great help in preparing the incoming sorority officers.

Panhellenic also sponsors and takes part in community projects in which every sorority has a chance to participate.

Stray Greeks

The Stray Greeks is composed of sorority girls whose chapters are not represented on the campus. Its aim is to provide a social outlet for its members and to preserve the bonds of unity and sisterhood in sorority life.

The group was founded in 1944 under the leadership of Twigg Branch. It has gained more and more recognition on campus since then and its membership now totals twenty-four.

This year the Stray Greeks handled the Post Office during the sorority rushing period and each member acted as a Panhellenic Adviser in the dormitories. The Stray Greeks also took part in the Women's Athletic program, service projects and social activities.

This year there are ten different sororities represented: Kappa Kappa Gamma, Phi Mu, Kappa Alpha Theta, Alpha Omicron Pi, Alpha Epsilon Phi, Gamma Phi Beta, Delta Gamma, Zeta Tau Alpha, Sigma Kappa, Sigma Delta Tau.

Winter Germans

Midwinters boasted two name bands—Tony Pastor and Earl Bostic. The week-end got off to a smooth start with Tony Pastor playing for the formal dance on Friday night, February 11th. He drew a large crowd and provided excellent dance music. Saturday afternoon there was quite a change of pace when Earl Bostic took over for a rousing concert in Memorial Hall. He provided quite a show and was one of the most popular events of the German Club year.

Spring Germans

With the fabulous Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong the German Club rounded out another highly successful year. The week-end began with a concert that featured "Satchmo," with his famous trumpet, his outstanding orchestra, and a surprise vocalist, Miss Velma Middleton who almost stole the spotlight herself. After the concert there was an intermission before resuming the excellent dance music which furnished the setting for a formal dance Saturday night to end German Club activities for the year.

Interfraternity Council

This year the Interfraternity Council has had one of its most successful years for some time.

Under the capable leadership of Henry Isaacson, the IFC has sought to raise the standards of fraternity life at UNC.

Among its activities this year, the IFC conducted a very successful Greek Week, which included exchange dinners, a pledge banquet, interfraternity competition in skits and athletics, and an afternoon of constructive work in and around Chapel Hill. Again, the IFC awarded the Andrew Bershak Memorial Scholarship, valued at two thousand dollars. This fund consists of contributions from the different fraternities.

This year the IFC made final arrangements on a plan started several years ago to bring a foreign student to this country to study at UNC, his expenses to be paid through the joint contributions of the IFC and IDC. It is hoped that this will be continued in future years and possibly some kind of exchange system can be worked out with a foreign country.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

ated: Henry Isaacson, President; Ed McCurry, Vice-President, anding: Dave Connor, Treasurer; Ed Hudgins, Secretary.

The IFC is a place where any individual fraternity can bring its problem and discuss it with representative members of each fraternity. It also conducts the pledging program, which is very extensive. Each year the IFC publishes a handbook on fraternity life and distributes it to all boys interested in joining a a fraternity. This book lists the individual, the members of each fraternity, a short history of the chapter and its policies, and the rushing rules for the coming year.

The IFC is composed of two members from each fraternity, the house president and another delegate. It strives to keep the standards of the fraternities at a high level, not only in scholarship, but also in brotherhood and character.

The 1954-55 academic year at Tau house started with a double-barreled explosion. The first barrel was Hurricane Hazel, which uprooted two ATO trees, ripped limbs off the others, and took Tiger and Brick off wheels for a while. The other barrel was the most successful rushing year. The best went ATO, and a successful year got off to what Canhead would call an "auspicious" start . . . The leaves turned, and parties introduced an exciting football season. Wood told us what General Custer said, and ATO pins appeared on Lady Manhattan shirts. The trees were stripped by the brisk winter winds, the pledges raked up the last of the dead leaves, and Christmas came and went, bringing sleepless nights and coffee breaks and final exams. Initiation, and a new group of brothers came into the active chapter . . . Spring, and even hurricanized trees burst into full greenery. Germans, pinnings, and more serenades. The beach trip was a howling success, and final exams were on us again. We watched our senior brothers receive their diplomas and get ready to be fitted with uniforms; Uncle Sam claimed usual share of the victims of commencement.

Since 1858 the month of September has always marked the advent of a new year for the Chi Phi Fraternity on the campus, and so it was this year with brothers returning early to carry out house improvements and to work on campus orientation.

Soon thoughts were turned to rushing, and the efforts of the Chi Phi's were rewarded with a fine pledge class of active, interested new students. Under the leadership of their pledge-master, the new members pitched into work around the house and to participation in all phases of activities.

From publications to politics, and from athletics to academic pursuits, Chi Phis were to be found hard at work. The same energies transformed the upper floors of the fraternity's home through painting and redecoration.

But all was not work, for 1955 was a season of memorable and enjoyable parties during football season to a record-breaking pledge weekend. Spring found the brothers visiting the beaches, and the ever-present Hogan's Lake parties were similar successes. With commencement nearing, thoughts of exams and future plans were mellowed with the memories of a perfect Chi Phi year.

Great year for the D.U.'s . . . although minus some of our most active brothers due to graduation, Uncle Sam, etc., we enjoyed the most successful year of our brief career. Fall rush added ten to our roll of some of the best on campus.

Party, Party! First came the Plantation Club shindig, then a blast at the Castle . . . followed by a chilly social and hayride together with the other necessities for a sensational time.

Dave Andrews took over the reins of the pledgemaster, and seems to have the situation well in hand. Pete, as cantankerous as ever (!) doing great as Pres. Gus, the financial wizard and eternal pessimist appears to have a monopoly on the treasury.

Scholarship, the foremost ingredient in any fraternity is stressed to improve our standing . . . though we still haven't found the answer to those multiple quiz days. Our goal for this year is first on campus, and I think we can make it.

Started slinging hash at the house this year for the first time. Ed (Toolius) Vogel, ably running the kitchen with helpful (?) hints by all.

See you all 'round the campus . . .

The dawn of 1954 casts its light on the 97th year of SAE on the Carolina campus. Taking in a fine pledge class was the beginning of a memorable year, with a rapid succession of good times . . . football weekends, Germans. SAE weekend, and the glorious beach in the spring.

Under the superlative leadership of Ned Hardison, the brothers gave spirited participation to intramural sports and campus activities, gaining laurals in many fields. "John O." remains our best representative to Y Court affairs.

It was their finest hour as Rubber Wellons and Fedook Parker received into the bonds of Miverva.

The old maple tree still stands on the side patio and under her limbs were spent many of the best times through another fine year by the members of N. C. Xi.

cobb dorm

A revision of Cobb Dorm's program by the officers and the I. D. C. resulted in a much fuller social, athletic, and educational agenda.

In the Fall we had coffee breaks and several parties, won the Homecoming display and entertained the Pan Hel girls with a dance.

After Christmas, the dorm discussions began with an address by President Gordon Gray. Our new social room, the first of its kind on campus, was opened in the Spring.

Having been host to the Kappa Alpha fraternity, entertaining Carolina's co-eds, and seeing daily the building and spirit grow as our boys gained new pride in their surroundings, we of Cobb feel that 1954 has been the best yet, and anticipate even better times in the future.

First Lt. Robert A. Gray Adjutant For eight years the AFROTC unit at the University of North Carolina has been an integral part of the academic plant. The United States Air Force has been recognized as America's first line of defense, so it becomes the purpose of the program to provide a ready supply of officer material. New pilots and observers must be constantly trained.

The AFROTC gives the student the opportunity to integrate his preparation for the role of a responsible citizen with the more specific preparation for his role as a well-trained Air Force officer. Training here at the University consists of intensive classroom work as well as laboratory work on the drill field. Principles of effective leadership and the importance of military discipline are stressed.

Corps of Cadets

The Corps of Cadets at the University of North Carolina is organized at wing level. Its total strength is 425 cadets. Upon entering his junior year the cadet may qualify for the advanced program which calls for four hours of classroom work and two hours of drill. Upon completion of academic requirements for a bachelor's degree and the four years of AFROTC training, each man is commissioned and assigned to Air Force duty.

Within the Corps, a band, a drill team, and a rifle team furnish extracurricular outlets.

Naval R. O. T. C.

Since its inception in 1940 the NROTC Unit at Chapel Hill has dedicated itself to the training and indoctrination of undergraduate students enrolled in the program so that upon graduation they may receive commissions in the U.S. Navy or in the U.S. Marine Corps. A student may enter the program under either of two plans, Regular or Contract. As a Regular he is appointed a Midshipman upon enrolling in the program and receives tuition, books, uniforms, and six hundred dollars per year throughout his four years of college. Upon graduation, he is commissioned as an Ensign in the Navy or a Second Lieutenant in the Marines and must serve three years on active duty. The Contract scudent is furnished only with uniforms and is paid thirty dollars per month during the last two years of the program. Upon graduation he receives a reserve commission.

In addition to the academic program provided by the unit to give its prospective officers theoretical training in the military profession, the summer cruise program offers an opportunity for the midshipman to learn many of the practical phases of the work he has studied in class, and therefore make him better qualified to fulfill his duties upon commissioning.

Scabbard and Blade

The National Society of Scabbard and Blade is a nationwide military honor society with chapters located in leading colleges and universities having ROTC programs. Membership is by election only and the selections are based on merit, coming from the outstanding cadet officers. The Society's purpose is best set forth in the preamble to its constitution:

Believing that military service is an obligation of citizenship, and that the greater opportunities afforded college men for the study of military science place upon them certain responsibilities as citizens, we, cadet officers in various colleges and universities conferring baccalaureate degrees, do form this Society and adopt this constitution in order to unite in closer relationship the military departments of American universities and colleges; to preserve and develop the essential qualities of good and efficient officers; to prepare ourselves as educated men to take a more active part and to have a greater influence in the military affairs of the communities in which we may reside; and above all to spread intelligent information concerning the military requirements of our country.

Football

Coach George Barclay's Tar Heels began the season with a traditional win over a traditional opponent when they turned back a tough N. C. State team 20-6. But the heat, humidity, and the Sugar Bowl jinx proved too much for the favored Carolina squad as the best they could garner against Tulane was a 7-7 tie in a game played in New Orleans.

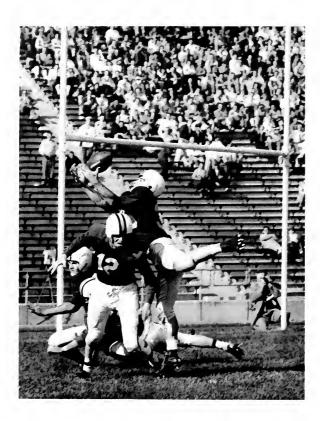

Georgia came marching through Carolina next and a two touchdown barrage in the second half gave the Bulldogs a 21-7 margin. Maryland ruined what the weather had left of the Carolina caravan when they lowered the boom on the hapless Tar Heels to the tune of 33-0.

Sophomore Ed Sutton gave Carolina a needed shot in the arm as it pulled a reversal over the favored Demon Deacons, winning 14-7. The Tennessee Vols put an end to the victory march in spite of a three touchdown effort by the home team, 26-20.

Another sophomore, hefty Don Klochak, provided a pleasant surprise for the homecoming crowd as his line smashes contributed greatly to a last minute 21-19 victory over highly regarded South Carolina in Kenan Stadium's game of the year. The Notre Dame trip followed, and the best that could be done was a double TD contribution in a 42-13 loss.

The Tar Heels ran wild against Virginia, gaining their fourth victory of the season, 26-14, in a muddy contest played in Charlottesville. And then came the Duke disaster. The Blue Devils had their sights set on the Orange Bowl and, after a valiant opening attempt by the locals, offered a 47-12 conquest over the Tar Heels as final proof that they were the undisputed conference leaders.

Ken Keller snatches a Marshal Newman pass in the Maryland end zone during the first quarter at College Park. The touchdown was nullified because of an offside penalty, however.

Larry Parker stiff arms a Tulane player while picking up ten yards. Parker scores on a pass from Len Bullock as Will Frye looks on in the South Carolina game.

Connie Gravitte fights his way for seven yards against Tulane.

Ken Keller is tackled from behind by Tennessee safety man Tom Tracy after gaining 36 yards in a game at Knoxville.

Marshal Newman hurdles teammate Ed Patterson in a drive to the Wake Forest 28-yard line.

Larry McMullen, Jack Maultsby, and Jimmy Neville drop N. C. State's Harrison MacKeever for a six yard loss in the opening game of the season.

Bullock is stopped after gaining six yards against Georgia on the option play.

Soccer

In spite of losing nine lettermen from last year's squad, Coach Marvin Allen's soccer team was able to gain three victories and a tie in their nine-meet season. The Tar Heel booters conquered Duke twice and N. C. State once to become the dominant team in this part of the country. They tied Virginia and lost to their only other conference contestant, Maryland.

Chip Bryant provided most of the team's scoring punch at his forward position while Don Gladstone was outstanding as goalie. Joe Mavretic, Harry Russell, Calvin Lane, and Bill Fitzer were other returning lettermen who performed well.

It was Coach Allen's second season as head soccer mentor since his return from the service. The team is still in the process of rebuilding.

One of the top games on the Tar Heel schedule was against Ft. Bragg. The army botters had a number of foreign players who had been playing the game all their lives. Other opponents included W & L and Roanoke.

With another year of experience under its belt and a host of good frosh talent coming up, the soccer team looked forward to an improved season next year.

Cross Country

Sophomore Jim Beatty was the big gun for Coach Dale Ranson's cross country team this year as he won all seven of the dual meets in which he participated, set three new records, placed first in the Atlantic Coast Conference race, and finished thirteenth in the NCAA contest. Beatty's finish in the Nationals was unique in that he topped all other southern entries in the meet and turned in the second best time of any sophomore present.

However, he wasn't the only outstanding runner on the team. Bob Barden took it upon himself to set a record in the Carolinas AAU at Davidson while Beatty was away, and Glenn Nanney also turned in some fine times for the Tar Heels. The team finished second in the ACC, second in the Carolinas AAU, and won five of seven dual meets.

Coach Ranson's distance men can be proud of the record they established during the year. With both Nanney and Beatty returning to competition next season it looks as though the Tar Heels will have a team to reckon with for a long time to come.

Basketball

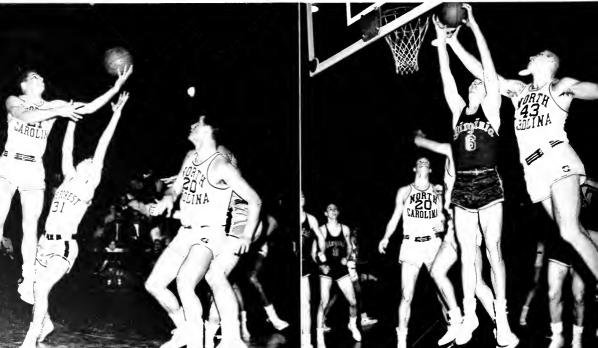

Lenny Rosenbluth was the hero of the McGuiremen this year as he continued to add to the scoring records which he established as a freshman at Carolina. A sophomore, he gained his first honor early in the season when he was chosen to be on the All-Tournament team of the Dixie Classics as Carolina surprised everyone with a third place finish and victories over heralded Duke and Southern California.

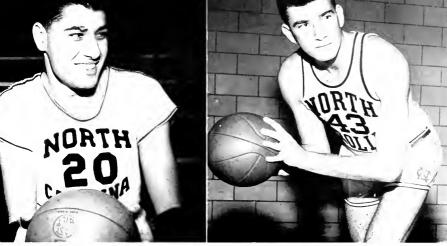

Dependable Jerry Vayda was another mainstay for the Tar Heels, a man who could be counted on for a number of points as well as a stellar defensive game every night. Paul Likins and Bob Young alternated at the center position, Tony Radovich gave the hustle and foul shot accuracy, and Al Lifson was the set shot master.

By midseason the Tar Heels were leading the conference race, having gained victories over each of the Big Four schools in regular season play, including a victory over the Wolfpack in the Coliseum when Everett Case's team was ranked second in the nation.

McGuire, brought here from St. Johns three years ago, has become one of the most popular coaches on the campus. He has returned basketball enthusiasm to Chapel Hill and people all over the state are looking into the near future when he will be able to remove the Wolfpack domination of basketball victories in the area.

Gymnastics

Revived in 1949 at Carolina, gymnastics under coach Bill Meade has become UNC's fastest growing sport. Interest in gymnastics reached a new peak on the campus with the appearance of the touring Swedish internationalists in an exhibition.

Stars of the team include Pete Brumley and Biff Howard, the co-captains, and Gordon Hudson, Otis Hartsell, Nash LeGrand, Bill Rivera, Gordan Godfrey, and Dick Qualls.

Although the sport is relatively new to Carolina, the Tar Heel matmen have shown that they are the top team in this part of the country, and gave tough matches to such national standouts as Syracuse and Navy.

Track

Carolina's track team was the surprise of the year as it captured second place in both the indoor and outdoor conference meets and made a long step toward regaining the supremacy which they held over other schools in the area for such a long time before.

Coach Dale Ranson and his assistant Joe Hilton can be held responsible for most of this improvement, as their constant recruitment programs coupled with their aid and training of participants finally paid off.

athlete. Newton won the 60-yard sprint in the indoor meet and did a 9.6 hundred yard dash during the regular season. Brown, team co-captain, won the javelin throw in the outdoor meet.

Other conference winners included Roger Morris in the discus throw, Charlie Yarborough in the pole vault, and Boyd Newnam in the half mile. Newnam was the surprise winner of the season while Morris and Yarborough were steady performers all during the year.

High spot of the year for the team was the sweep of the Indoor Games. The half-point victory over Maryland was clinched by a third place in the final event of the evening. Jim Beatty helped the team effort with first place in both the mile and two mile events. In the regular season the team broke even in six dual meets with wins over N. C. State, Virginia and South Carolina.

Baseball

Although their preseason ratings were high, the Tar Heel baseball team never seemed to keep any win streak alive, and mainly due to weak hurling, had one of their worst seasons in recent years. Walt Rabb and Bunn Hearn coached the team which finished with a 14-11 overall record for the season and a fifth place finish in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The Tar Heels had a rather unique situation in that the three members of their starting outfield also doubled in George Barclay's backfield during the football season. Ken Keller and Connie Gravitte, the right and center fielders respectively, were also known for their activities as halfbacks while Albert Long was famed for his quarterbacking as well as his left field duties.

The Carolina infield, consisting of Bruce Holt and Bobby Williams at third, Fred Dale at shortstop, Harry Lloyd at second base, and Will Frye or Joe Mosier at first, ran hot and cold, but were capable of playing as well as any other infield in the conference.

Don Marbry, Doug Bruton, Tom Maultsby, Joe Morgan, and Jim Scearce led the list of hurlers while Frye and co-captain Ed Hooks alternated at the backstop position with Jack Maultsby.

Golf

Billy Ford, John Frazier, George Mountcastle, Joe Correll, Larry Parker, Jim Sykes, Embry Abell, and Milo Abercrombie led the Carolina golf team last spring as Coach Chuck Erickson's linksmen won six of their seven scheduled dual meets.

Their only setback came at the hands of the Wake Forest team, a squad which was led by Arnold Palmer, who later won the National Amateur and Atlantic Coast Conference championships. The defeat was the first ever suffered by a Tar Heel team on their own home course.

Carolina had the distinction of toppling the Duke golfers, the team which eventually won the ACC championship.

Women's Sports

All women students automatically become members of the Women's Athletic Association when they are enrolled at UNC. A variety of activities is offered by the W. A. A. including archery, synchronized swimming, modern dancing, various types of music and dance participation, basketball, softball, field hockey, tennis, and volleyball. Special sports days, sports clubs, and intramural programs are provided for the women students.

All women's athletic activities are carried on in accordance with the standards of the National Section for Girls' and Women's Sports of the American Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation, and women's official rules are used for all sports.

Intramurals

The intramural program at UNC, under the direction of Walter Rabb, has been characterized by its expansion and increased participation during the past years. The intramural department now sponsors twenty-three activities for individual campus teams in addition to holding carnivals and interscholastic competition with neighboring schools.

The Big Four Sports Day, still in its infancy, proved to be successful again as Carolina intramural teams emerged victorious in contests with the other schools in the Big Four.

The annual co-recreational Sports Carnival also brought acclaim from the students. Somewhat over two thousand members from the student body and faculty participated in some phase of the intramural program.

Cheerleaders

Jim Fountain took over the job of masterminding the Carolina yell section for the second year in a row and proved his merit to everyone by the introduction of new cheers, jokes, and stunts. Fountain was aided in his task by Mary Ann Murphy, Eve Robuck, Nancy Whisnant, Carol Butts, Lou Holley, Jake Goforth, Pete Brumley, Tom Wakefield, and Bo Thorpe.

New interest was instilled throughout the student body with the introduction of different kinds of pep rallies and torchlight parades. It will be a long time before any of the Tar Heels will forget singing the inimitable, "We've gotta have a fumble play!"

Nose Jones came along to give a helping hand when the going got rough and the great ex-cheer-leader proved that he was still capable of his past performances.

UNC owes a lot to the yell captains of 1955, a group which did so much to lift the school spirit to the heights it had reached during the post war years.

The Card Board

Under the able direction of Card Board President Bradley Katz, the card stunts during the 1954 football season were better than ever before. The stunts were new and the ideas were different as halftime entertainment improved while the season progressed.

Katz was aided in his work by Tom Fox, Snyder Pate, George Teer, Tom McNeill, Buddy Clark, Andy Kistler, George Heinz, and Larry Hinson.

Plans are being made to perform the card stunts during games away from school next year. It was impossible to do so during the past season since all of the road games were too far from home.

Monogram Club

Under the guidance of President Harry Pawlik, elected for the second year in a row, the Monogram Club has been increasing in both size and influence on the Carolina campus.

The club started the year off with movies of all the Tar Heel football games in a type of Monday quarterback session, and much interest was shown all over the campus. It also gave help to orphaned children as its annual Christmas project.

The main task undertaken by the Monogram Club is the holding of the Blue-White intersquad game at the end of the spring football practice. The club sponsors the game, programs, and other concessions. The contest has become one of the most popular events on the UNC spring calendar.

The purpose of the club, re-established at Chapel Hill in 1946 after the war, is to bring closer co-ordination between the varsity letter winners at the University. Every monogram winner automatically becomes a member and can participate in the actions and social functions of the club.

Now at last that sip of stronger tea, and that mad lesson about life and friends and the meaning to them all . . . that teasing wisp of memory clouding your mind through this whole year, asking, re-asking, what will you do when this is all over, how will you manage these hands, direct these feet, will the passions be controlled, the temper mustered, the goal achieved, the drive consummated, or will you have to learn, all over, in life's harder more industrious school? I think not. I guess you've learned a lot, already-you with the proud dignified remoteness, the aloof withdrawal, yet the unreserved tenderness, the compliant sympathy, the full and gentle heartcome back to us, as you will, in the face and image of thousands-continue, as you will, in the love and admiration of millions.

New vistas, uncultivated opportunity, waiting for you. Another twelve months, and then the sky's the limit, there's no stopping a good person, and there's no stopping you, you with your dreams, your skills, trained these many years in all the worldly trades, but still lacking the world's greatest virtue-experience—and still a bit too nervesome. Go calmly, child, you've almost found the pot of gold. You're big and handsome or you're small and pert and all the campus organizations you've either dabbled in or controlled so there is no door closed and not one left unopened, neither has there been a face unrecognized or a name left unremembered. Yours is the laugh, the shout, the terrific love for life, the energy, the consuming power . . . you're the hat-checker, the hand-grabber, but still a sweet sentimental kid whose dreams of glory have yet to be realized, but, most probably will be.

Sophomore Class

Realism with a touch of fantasy . . . half-wise half-foolish . . . pinned for the first time but still writing the old letters . . . something about studies that freezes the mind . . . something about the Goody and the "Rat" that fills you with a warm glow (maybe the German beer or maybe just its inner warmth) . . . they said you'd never get this far, but you progressed, and even made a winning. You know the walks now and most of the faces and that cute one with no name, why you'll know it soon. You're a thing of mischief and light and joy because you're young and simple enough to know little about anything but still, in youth's own fashion, pretend to know it all.

Freshman Class

Pranksters at a tender age . . . new world too soon and not enough of home . . . classes, cuts, crewmen, cuties . . . college life with a twist . . . love with a different sentiment . . . that new song, that anthem, that color, flavor, all when you're eighteen . . . someone says to stand straight and walk with more firmness and you stand straight and walk but its not too firm because you're scared, scared pretty near to death, all because you don't catch a familiar face in this void of intimacy . . . but you'll show'em because they said back home you wouldn't stick it out; well this is your chance, even if all the fellows are bigger and you didn't make the first team you'll remain, and next year—on to bigger and better attainable glories.

School of Dentistry

JOHN C. BRAUER

Deon of the School of Dentistry

Thirty-four North Carolinians graduated in the first class from the School of Dentistry in June, 1954. The graduating class this June represents the second in the history of the University and in the State of North Carolina.

Another "first" will be realized in the graduation of the first class in Dental Hygiene, wherein the girls will receive their Certificate in Dental Hygiene. The School also affords a Bachelor of Science degree in Dental Hygiene. Three students (dentists) also received their Master of Science degree in Orthodontics at the close of summer school in 1954. Graduate instruction, leading toward a Masters degree or Certification, now is afforded in Orthodontics, Oral Surgery and Pedodontics. The new graduate and postgraduate clinics and laboratories are completed in the School, and they have been activated. All phases of dental education originally planned by the University, the profession, and the legislature are now in progress, including the short postgraduate courses. A program of dental research also is progressing.

Spurgeon Dental Society

The Spurgeon Dental Society is the name designating the student body of the School of Dentistry. The Society was named in honor of the late Dr. J. S. Spurgeon, a pioneer in North Carolina dentistry. The officers of the Spurgeon Dental Society, the president of each class, and an elected representative from each class comprise the governing body of the Society.

The year 1954-1955 marks the fifth year of the Society's existence, it being established in 1950 by the first students of dentistry at the University of North Carolina, Since that time the Society has grown from a total membership of 40 to a membership of 200 — including 30 dental hygienists and six graduate students.

HENRY PARKER BRANDIS Dean of the Law School

School of Law

THE SCHOOL OF LAW opened this fall to 87 first-year students and 120 upper classmen. Everyone immediately settled down to tedious but interesting studies. The Law School has not lost a faculty member since 1945 and regrets the resignation of the beloved librarian, Miss Lucile Elliot, who will "graduate" with the class of 1955. The Law School is proud of its active Law School Association, enthusiastic Alumni Association, and the quarterly publication of the North Carolina Law Review.

School of Medicine

This has been a "diamond anniversary" year for the School of Medicine. Medical education became part of the University in 1879.

Dr. Thomas W. Harris, distinguished Tarheel physician, trained in this country and abroad, was the first dean. In 1941, W. Reece Berryhill, M.D., assumed this post. Since that time he has provided intelligent impetus to tremendous expansion and stabilization, serving in worthy succession to Harris, Whitehead, Manning, Mangum, and MacNider. The School of Medicine consistently has attracted to its faculty men of wide distinction as teachers and scientists.

Until 1952, only two years of medicine were offered here. The first four-year class was graduated in 1954. This year there are 241 students enrolled, including 59 in the class of 1955.

The first four-year collegiate school of nursing in the state was established at the University of North Carolina in September of 1951. The students who were admitted on this historic date will be granted the degree of Bachelor of Science in Nursing at the 1955 commencement exercises of the University of North Carolina.

At the beginning of the fall semester of 1954, 152 students, including 7 graduate nurses, were enrolled in the four classes.

The School of Nursing benefits by the use of the educational facilities of various departments and schools within the University, the North Carolina Memorial Hospital, and other agencies and institutions throughout the state. These facilities provide opportunities for students to acquire a broad education. Graduates of the School of Nursing are prepared to function effectively as professional nurses.

School of Public Health

The School of Public Health is the fourth oldest professional school of its kind in the United States and one of the ten North American schools accredited by the American Public Health Association. It is a member of the University's Division of Health Affairs, which is the focal training and service point for an integrated state-wide health program.

The students are professional people who are taking post-graduate work beyond their respective professional competencies—medicine, engineering, nursing, dentistry, education, nutrition, etc.

About ten per cent of the student body are from other countries. Students from Egypt, Iran, Formosa, India, Thailand, Philippines, Vietnam, Finland, and South and Central America are here to learn the basic principles of public health which they will soon apply in their own countries; thus, the University's influence reaches to the far countries of the earth.

The School of Public Health also gives extension instruction to an additional 1500 students, largely from the State, in classes, institutes, and refresher courses.

The 1954 grads were replaced by 83 freshmen and transfer students this fall. After orientation these students were faced with classes, labs and studying. A picnic in their honor was given by the Pharmacy student body in Battle Park during October.

An inspection by the American Council on Pharmaceutical Education for accreditation purposes took place in November. Our institution is still ranked with the top accredited colleges of the nation. This committee delivered complimentary and informative talks concerning our place as students in the Pharmaceutical profession.

The social function of the year, Pharmacy Weekend, was up to its usual caliber with parties, the fraternities' annual softball game, a picnic, and a formal dance. The student body officers were presented and the senior class was honored with favors.

Rumors were spread concerning finals and a state board examination. As usual they were upon us before we realized it and reluctant goodbyes followed for the class of '55.

Pharmacy Senate

The Pharmacy Senate was founded at the University in 1940. Membership is limited to thirty members from the School of Pharmacy. The purposes are to stimulate and increase knowledge and appreciation for the profession of Pharmacy, to promote interclass co-operation within the school, and to teach public speaking as a foundation for future leadership.

Officers this year were: President, Art Schlagel; Secretary-Treasurer, Edith Trosper; Recorder, Bill Griffin; Parliamentarian, Bill McDonald; Reporter, Don Miller.
